10:00 AM–12:00 PM  Workshop Block I	Hunger and Health: Current and Emerging Opportunities	2017 was an exciting year of new research on the implications of food insecurity on health and health care costs as well as the effectiveness of the federal nutrition programs in improving health. In addition, a variety of tools were released to support and improve food insecurity screening and food interventions. Staff of FRAC and Feeding America will provide a broad overview of the latest research and resources, and guide a discussion of opportunities and specific actions for food banks and anti-hunger advocates to take in the year ahead. Speakers: Heather Hartline-Grafton, FRAC ♦ Michelle Berger Marshall, Feeding America	Room: Hampton Track: Community Health/Nutrition
	Hot Button Federal and State SNAP Issues (Roundtables)	SNAP advocates will visit roundtables for interactive learning about how pressing SNAP issues of today are being addressed at federal, state, and local levels. This session will drill down on how SNAP participants are impacted by SNAP Employment and Training (E&amp;T) and other work-related issues, “integrity” initiatives, drug testing, food choice, application assistance efforts, and Healthy Food Financing Initiatives (HFFI). Additionally, experts will inform and converse about state options and deductions, legislation, administrative advocacy and SNAP in county-administered states. Speakers: Robert Campbell, Feeding America (Moderator) ♦ Ellen Vollinger, FRAC (Moderator) ♦ Andrew Cheyne, California Association of Food Banks ♦ Nune Phillips, CLASP ♦ Diane Doherty, IL Hunger Coalition ♦ Ed Cooney ♦ Kahjii King, The Food Trust ♦ Amalia Swan, Food Bank of Central New York ♦ Pat Baker, Massachusetts Law Reform Institute ♦ Brittany Mangini, MA Department of Transitional Assistance ♦ Dawn Secor, Hunger Solutions NY ♦ Vicky Negus, Massachusetts Law Reform Institute ♦ Ann Morse, NCSL ♦ Haley Nicholson, NCSL ♦ Adele LaTourette, New Jersey Anti-Hunger Coalition ♦ Dottie Rosenbaum, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities ♦ Ed Bolen, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities	Room: Empire Track: SNAP
	Concrete Strategies to Help Immigrant Communities Access Nutrition Programs and Resources	(CLOSED MEDIA SESSION) Get up-to-date information on federal policies that impact immigrant access to nutrition programs. 2:15 PM–3:30 PM Workshop Block II	Nuts and Bolts of Engaging Experts in Lived Experience of Hunger and Poverty in Your Advocacy	Engaging advocates with lived experience enriches our advocacy efforts on so many levels. Come hear the “how” on ways your organization can more effectively partner with advocates with lived experience in anti-hunger advocacy in your communities. In this session, advocates and staff from Partners for a Hunger-Free Oregon and the Food Bank of the Southern Tier will walk you through the steps they took as they began their successful advocacy programs, roadblocks they have overcome, and keys to success in engaging client advocates. You will also hear why advocates got involved in advocacy and what they have learned through the process.	Room: Palladian Track: Advocacy

	Leveraging Technology in SNAP Community Eligibility Provision: Continuing the Momentum in 2018 Fresh Ideas to Solve Senior Hunger: Don't Miss this Roundtable Session Coming Up Short: Comparing SNAP Benefits and the Real Cost of a Meal Successful CACFP Strategies: Child Care, Afterschool, and Homeless Programs	Speakers: Chris Bake, Partners for a Hunger-Free Oregon ♦ Treva Drake, Partners for a Hunger-Free Oregon ♦ Randi Quackenbush, Food Bank of the Southern Tier ♦ Lorna Swaine-Abdallah, Food Bank of the Southern Tier ♦ Dee Larrier, Food Bank of the Southern Tier ♦ Rowena Norman, Feeding America (Moderator) As technology changes, so do opportunities and challenges for improving SNAP customer service and client access. This interactive session will feature: 1) roundtables on a variety of client-facing technology systems and apps that can streamline SNAP enrollment and position SNAP participants to maximize their SNAP benefit opportunities; and 2) roundtables on back-end data system initiatives and changes that SNAP advocates should be prepared to monitor and challenge when necessary. Hear from experts on what's working and lessons learned about advocacy for fixes when technological solutions lead to problems. Attendees will visit two of 10 tables for 25 minutes each. Speakers: Ellen Vollinger, FRAC (moderator) ♦ Robert Campbell, Feeding America (moderator) ♦ Ty Jones, Benefits Data Trust ♦ Lura Barber, National Council on Aging ♦ Rachel Cahill, Policy Consultant, Rachel Cahill Consulting ♦ Caitlin Docker, Code for America ♦ Monica Beas, Code for America ♦ Shannon Maynard, Congressional Hunger Center ♦ Stacy McLoughlin Taylor, Propel ♦ Kathleen Gorman, URI Hunger Center ♦ Dottie Rosenbaum, Center on Budget and Policy Priorities ♦ Mary Whalen, Communally In just four years of nationwide availability, more than half of all eligible schools are participating in the Community Eligibility Provision. Now that thousands of high-poverty schools and districts have implemented with great success, there is no shortage of best practices to support eligible schools and districts that have not taken the leap yet. Join this session to hear about the benefits of community eligibility, overcoming challenges to participation, and key strategies to maximize the reach of this beneficial option. Speakers: Amanda Harrison, West Virginia Department of Education Office of Child Nutrition ♦ Tam Lynne Kelley, Maryland Hunger Solutions ♦ Ingrid Rasmø, Dorchester County Public Schools ♦ Alison Maurice, FRAC (Moderator) This interactive round table session will engage those who work with older adults struggling with food insecurity to activate successful programs, adopt favorable policies, prepare for Hill visits, and engage new partners. Participants will be able to participate in three facilitated tables of 20 minutes each and share experiences, learn about new research, and take home fresh ideas to solve senior hunger. Speakers: Hollie Baker-Lutz, Feeding America (Moderator) ♦ Roger R. 	Rural Hunger	Paradoxically, in rural areas that grow most of our nation's food, millions of low-income households face considerably deeper struggles with hunger than those inside metropolitan areas. Millions of working families, veterans, people with disabilities, seniors, and children in rural areas cannot always afford and access enough food for an active, healthy life. Learn about the data on rural hunger; explore the special issues rural communities face that contribute to food insecurity; identify how federal nutrition programs are serving people in rural areas and where gaps exist; and pinpoint resources to help educate and advocate for solutions to rural hunger. Speakers: Kathy Gardner, Idaho Hunger Relief Task Force ♦ Dennis Pittman, Smithfield Foods ♦ Earline Middleton, Food Bank of Central and Eastern North Carolina	Room: Hampton Track: Cross-cutting
	Three Months to Summer	There are three months left until the Summer Meal Programs get underway in most states. What actions will you take in the upcoming months to prepare for summer meals, support outreach efforts, collaborate with partners, or address unforeseen issues? Join our panel of experts to hear what they are doing to prepare for a successful summer. We will guide you through an exercise to form your plan for the next three months. Attendees to this session will gain a handful of action items that they can employ upon walking out of the session. Speakers: Cory Jackson, YMCA of Western North Carolina ♦ Erin Brock, Second Harvest Food Bank of Greater New Orleans and Acadiana ♦ Ariana Stillman, Hunger Task Force	Room: Diplomat Track: Child Nutrition
	Inside Scoop: How Food Banks Implement Nutrition Policies and Health Equity Activities	Food banks are increasing access to healthy foods to improve diet quality while engaging in health equity activities. To improve the nutritional quality of food being distributed, a growing number of food banks are moving from informal nutrition recommendations to official nutrition policies, including Feeding America. A food bank's nutrition policies reflect the organization's values in building healthy communities and set standards for healthy food distribution. Come hear about the national landscape of nutrition policies from MAZON's recent food bank survey and learn how health equity is a growing way for food banks to engage in community outreach. Speakers: Christine Rivera, Feeding America ♦ Marla Feldman, MAZON ♦ Kristen Cooksey Stowers, RUDD Center ♦ Other speakers TBA	Room: Congressional A/B Track: Cross-cutting
	Bringing Research and Data to Life to Create Change	This skill-building workshop will focus on the effective use of data and research to support an advocacy agenda. Discover valuable resources and interactive tools for mining the latest research and data on poverty, food insecurity, and the federal nutrition programs. Session participants also will learn how to transform research and data into powerful stories to influence policy. Speakers: Heather Hartline-Grafton, FRAC ♦ Randy Rosso, FRAC ♦ Colleen Barton Sutton, FRAC	Room: Ambassador Tracks: Communications; Research/Data
	USDA CACFP Program Update	In this session, USDA will provide updates on CACFP program developments, policy, and guidance that are important to supporting CACFP success for child care and afterschool programs. This is also an opportunity to provide feedback to USDA on your successes and challenges in implementing the updated meal pattern as well as suggestions on boosting CACFP participation. Speakers: Angela Kline, USDA Food and Nutrition Service ♦ Andrea Farmer, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service ♦ John Kirwan, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service	Room: Executive Track: CACFP

8:30 AM–10:00 AM	Breakfast Plenary Session		Regency Ballroom
10:15 AM–11:30 AM  Workshop Block IV	Speakers: Brandon Lipps, Acting Deputy Under Secretary, Food, Nutrition and Consumer Services; Administrator, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA ♦ Kris Charles, Senior Vice President, Global Corporate Affairs, Kellogg Company ♦ Susanna Reza, National CACFP Forum President ♦ Matt Knott, President, Feeding America ♦ Jim Weill, President, FRAC	(CLOSED MEDIA SESSION) Explore how federal policies (e.g., the new tax law, the affordable care act, sponsor liability, public charge) that impact immigrant access to health care, income supports, and jobs are interconnected to the food security of immigrant families. Learn how living under the threat of deportation and other anti-immigrant action can take a toll on health, well-being, and food security. Identify opportunities for the anti-hunger community to engage in efforts to protect immigrant families. Speakers: Lanre Omojokun Falusi, Children's National Health System ♦ Corey Williams, National Education Association ♦ Jackie Vimo, National Immigration Law Center ♦ Wendy Cervantes, Center for Law and Social Policy (Moderator) Food Insecurity Screening and Intervening: A Conversation With the Experts Health care providers, insurers, anti-hunger advocates, and food banks are working together to identify patients experiencing food insecurity and connecting those patients to food and nutrition resources. Join this conversation as experts discuss the successes and challenges they have faced in building partnerships and programs that address food insecurity in health care settings. Speakers: Sarah DeSilvey, University of Vermont and the Yale School of Nursing ♦ Emily McGrath, Humana ♦ Anya Rose, Hunger Free Colorado ♦ Rachelle Bonelli, Gleaners Community Food Bank ♦ Richard Sheward, Children's HealthWatch (Moderator) Hunger on College Campuses: Research, Policy, and Practice In this session, attendees will learn about and discuss food insecurity among college students. Presentations will cover: 1) available research and gaps in the literature; 2) existing programs that target college students (e.g. campus pantries); and 3) existing and pending policies that could better serve the population (including SNAP). Speakers: Sara Goldrick-Rab, Temple University ♦ Tony Hollinger, The American University ♦ Samuel Chu, MAZON ♦ Jessica Bartholow, Western Center on Law &amp; Poverty ♦ Ellen Vollinger, FRAC (Moderator) Advocacy Opportunities in the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA): Supporting the Whole Child With Nutrition Programs The Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA) reauthorizes the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and replaces the No Child Left Behind Act. ESSA was designed to bring more decision-making back to state education agencies (SEAs) and local education agencies (LEAs) and to ensure the holistic needs of all students are met so they are prepared for the future, academically and professionally. All states have developed education plans to meet the goals of ESSA, including accountability measures and the kinds of supports that schools will use to track and improve student outcomes. Join this session to learn about opportunities to engage in the process at all levels and to ensure all students have access to the Child Nutrition Programs. Speakers: Nancy Katz, Alliance for a Healthier Generation ♦ Erik Peterson, Afterschool Alliance ♦ Guy Johnson, The Opportunity Institute ♦ Etienne Melcher Philbin, FRAC (Moderator) Engaging in Successful Anti-Hunger Advocacy in Traditionally Red States Advocacy in red states can be a tricky task – come hear from experts what tactics work best, how to give your Congressional delegation pressure or cover to ensure their support for your priorities, and how to adjust your work to ensure your donors and supporters stay engaged. Speakers: Sue Berkowitz, South Carolina Appleseed ♦ Libby Campbell, Food Bank of West Texas ♦ Elisha Buchholz, Montana Food Bank Network ♦ Seth Turner, Congressional Management Foundation (Moderator) USDA Commodities Update Come hear where you can find the latest TEFAP and CSFP regulations and policies, the USDA foods outlook for this year, and updates from USDA FNS experts on new products and offerings. Speakers: Laura Castro, USDA FNS Food Distribution ♦ Erica Antonson, USDA FNS Food Distribution ♦ Janice Fitzgerald, USDA FNS Food Distribution ♦ Julie Skolmowski, USDA FNS Food Distribution USDA Team Nutrition Update Join USDA for an informative and lively workshop offering the best in nutrition materials, resources, and training to help successfully implement the new CACFP nutrition requirements. Learn how to use these exciting new resources, and help your afterschool programs and child care providers to successfully meet the updated meal patterns. Speakers: Cheryl Lewis Jackson, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service ♦ Alicia White, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service ♦ Sheldon Gordon, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service ♦ Gwen Holcomb, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service	Room: Palladian Track: Cross-cutting Room: Empire Tracks: Community Health/Nutrition; Cross-cutting Room: Ambassador Track: Cross-cutting Room: Diplomat Track: Child Nutrition Room: Hampton Track: Advocacy Room: Executive Track: Room: Congressional A/B Track: CACFP

Your Story is Part of the Solution. USDA Child Nutrition Programs Update Addressing Senior Hunger: The Role of the Older Americans Act and Engaging New Partners CACFP Goes Local: The Policy and Practice of Using CACFP in Farm to Early Care and Education Models	They jammed the phones. They took over the halls of Congress. They showed up — and made their voices heard — at town halls and events across the country. During the recent fight on the future of the Affordable Care Act, grassroots and citizen advocates played a pivotal role in preserving the law. How did they do it? What lessons can anti-hunger advocates apply to our future fights? Find out from the key organizations — MoveOn.org, Indivisible, and Little Lobbyists — about the best strategies and tools they used to educate, engage, and mobilize their grassroots supporters. The organizations will discuss how they kept their advocates motivated and energized in a challenging legislative landscape. Discussions include coordinating on-the-ground efforts and creating a massive groundswell of support to advance our anti-hunger and anti-poverty legislative agenda. Speakers: Austin Carrigg, Little Lobbyists ♦ Chad Bolt, Indivisible ♦ Emma Einhorn, Moveon.org ♦ Kimberly Perry, AARP Foundation (Moderator) This session will offer introductory remarks and interactive round tables anchored by experts who have helped get SNAP, Disaster SNAP, school meals, summer nutrition, WIC and TEFAP resources to households and communities hit by disasters. Most federal nutrition programs are structured to respond to increases in need whether due to economic downturns and natural disasters. Attendees will hear lessons learned from Hurricanes Harvey, Irma and Maria as well as from disasters of more modest scope. Attendees will rotate among tables for 2 rounds of 30 minutes each. The session aims to give advocates, service providers and others the information they need to best aid their communities. Speakers: John Dupre, Louisiana Department of Education ♦ Rachel Cooper Center For Public Policy Priorities ♦ Julie Kreaflle, Florida Impact ♦ Geri Henchy, FRAC ♦ Etienne Melcher Philbin, FRAC There are over 41 million Americans wondering where they are going to get their next meal. Still, hunger is often invisible in America. While many anti-hunger and anti-poverty groups are doing amazing work, they are not always effective in using stories of how and WHY they do what they do to help get their message out. Stories are often weighed down by too much data or jargon, leaving the audience — whether it’s policymakers, concerned citizens, or others — without an emotional connection to the issue, a sense of urgency, or both. This session will focus on how advocates can craft compelling stories and messages that resonate with the media and policymakers’ intended audiences — compelling stories that highlight the benefits of food assistance programs to those that show the impact that cuts or changes to these programs will have on communities across the country. Speakers: J.B. Wogan, Governing ♦ Nicole Forbes, Oregon Food Bank ♦ Sarah Ormbrek, Oregon Food Bank; Shared Harvest ♦ Dawn Tallett, Speakers Bureau of the Food Bank of the Southern Tier ♦ Emily Pickren, FRAC (Moderator) The school, afterschool, and summer meal programs support good nutrition, health, and learning for children. In this session, USDA officials will provide Child Nutrition Policy updates as well as share resources and Program innovations. Speaker: Cindy Long, Deputy Administrator, USDA, Food and Nutrition Service Not familiar with the acronyms OAA, HDM, ENS, and AAAs? Interested in ramping up your ability to connect seniors struggling with hunger to congregate meals, home-delivered meals, and other services? Need support navigating the senior services network, including how to partner with state and local area agencies on aging to address hunger? Then this session is for you. Learn from experts about the ins and outs of Title III of the Older Americans Act, the role of state area agencies on aging, and examples of winning partnerships between anti-hunger groups, food banks, and senior-serving agencies. Speakers: Holly Greuling, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services ♦ Melinda Waddell, Lowcountry Food Bank ♦ Keith Barnes, Tennessee Justice Center ♦ Alexandra Ashbrook, FRAC (Moderator) CACFP is an important tool in supporting Farm to Early Care and Education (Farm to ECE) models. A key element of Farm to ECE is local food procurement, in addition to gardening, and food, nutrition, and agriculture education. While CACFP can work to support the procurement of locally sourced foods, Farm to ECE can support success in adhering to CACFP meal patterns and the overarching goals of CACFP. State initiatives and program models have emerged that incentivize and facilitate the use of CACFP for Farm to ECE. These models support healthy eating through Farm to ECE while helping to improve ECE quality and supporting children in meeting early learning standards and programmatic	Room: Palladian Track: Advocacy Room: Ambassador Track: Cross-cutting Room: Hampton Track: Communications /Advocacy Room: Congressional A/B Track: Child Nutrition Room: Empire Track: Cross-cutting Room: Diplomat Track: CACFP

3:15 PM–4:30 PM	Workshop Block VI	(CLOSED MEDIA SESSION) Huddle with FRAC and Feeding America’s legislative, communications and policy experts before heading up to Capitol Hill. We will review talking points, strategies, the “leave behinds,” and “your ask.” We will open the floor to answer any questions you have on how to deliver a powerful and persuasive message to your Members of Congress. You will also walk away from this session with the resources and support you need for your advocacy in DC and back home. Speakers: Ellen Teller, FRAC ♦ Kate Leone, Feeding America ♦ Colleen Barton Sutton, FRAC ♦ Carrie Calvert, Feeding America ♦ Ellen Vollinger, FRAC ♦ Robert Campbell, Feeding America Child Nutrition: Out-of-School/Partnerships Roundtables This interactive session will cover strategies for expanding participation in and awareness of the Summer and Afterschool Nutrition programs. Attendees will have the opportunity to visit 3–4 different expert-led roundtables for 20-minute increments. Table topics will include engaging teens, serving on weekends and school breaks, outreach, partnerships, legislation, and more. Speakers: Julie Kreafle, Florida Impact ♦ Allison Coleman, National Recreation and Park Association ♦ Azade Perin, RI Dept of Ed ♦ Melissa Moore, Family League of Baltimore ♦ Frances Hall, Multnomah County Human Services Make a Splash on Social Media: Building Creative Campaigns for Your Cause Are you an advocate or organization that wants to increase your engagement and visibility on social media? In the increasingly fast-paced cycle of social media, often the challenge is knowing where to begin. Hear from nonprofit advocacy experts on how to construct a successful social media campaign. You will walk away from this session with simple and effective strategies to build and mobilize your network. Speakers: Meagan Bond, ONE Campaign ♦ Mary LaVigne-Bulter, Greater Cleveland Food Bank ♦ Mike Connery, Weber Shandwick Building an Effective Action Plan to Increase WIC Participation The number of participants in WIC has dropped by over a million since 2013. Advocates have a key role to play to reversing this decline. This workshop will cover partnership opportunities with your state and local WIC agencies, positive messaging around WIC, and creating an effective action plan to increase WIC participation in your city or state. Join us in this discussion of strategies for increasing WIC participation including best practices for outreach and retention, methods for assessing unmet need and facilitating the full redemption of WIC benefits. Speakers: Geri Henchy, FRAC ♦ Brian Dittmeier, National WIC Association ♦ Lauren Waits, Atlanta Community Food Bank Brand New Research to Help You Make a Success of New CACFP Meal Patterns Is your program or sponsorship ready to fully meet the new nutrition standards when this transition year ends? This workshop will provide you with the most recent research and insights on CACFP programs and provider practices and strategies. Researchers will present exciting new study results that answer the following questions: What are young children in CACFP programs eating now and what did they eat prior to implementation? Does the food being served in centers and family homes meet the new standards? What are the implementation challenges? What training and technical assistance do sponsors and providers need to succeed? Speakers : Jamie F.
